Low income reduced fee: guidance notes

The 2011-12 low income fee category is for individual profession registrants whose gross personal annual income from all sources is less than £12,000.

How much is the low income fee?

For 2011/12 the low income fee rate will be £170 for registration.

For 2011/12 the low income fee rate will be £240 for restoration.

What constitutes gross personal annual income?

Gross personal income covers all income from all sources worldwide. It does not purely relate to income from optometry or dispensing optics-related activities. It includes, for example, pensions, investments, maternity pay, sick pay, and any kind of benefit.

Who is entitled to pay the low income fee?

An optometrist or dispensing optician whose gross personal income is less than £12,000 is entitled to apply to pay the low income registration/retention fee. The low income rate is not available to bodies corporate or students.

How do I apply for the low income fee?

Optometrists and dispensing opticians wishing to apply for the lower income fee for the 2011-12 year will be required to complete and send by post a paper application form.

Applications for the lower income fee are not able to be made online this year. We hope to be able to offer this option in the future. The low income fee application form is available to be downloaded and printed from the GOC website, www.optical.org

New Fully Qualified Registrants & Restorees

New registrants and restorees should submit their application form along with their registration/restoration forms or prior to this is at all possible.

Will I be required to make an additional declaration?

Yes. When applying to pay the low income fee, you will be required to make a declaration as follows:

I am applying for entry in the Register of Optometrists or Dispensing Opticians, and I hereby declare that my gross annual income from all sources in the forthcoming retention year (1 April 2011 to 31 March 2012) will be less than £12,000. I agree that if there are any changes in my financial circumstances that result in my gross annual income reaching £12,000 or more, I will immediately inform the GOC Registration Department.

I agree to provide the Registrar with evidence of my gross annual income upon request, including during or after the end of the retention year for which I am applying for the low income fee. If my actual gross annual income is equal to or more than £12,000, or I do not submit evidence on request, I agree to immediately pay upon demand the balance of £100.

If I pay the low income fee and my income subsequently exceeds £12,000 what should I do?

You will need to contact the Registration immediately and pay the difference between the low income and standard registration/retention fee (£100).

How do I show that my income is below 12,000?

If you elect to pay the low income fee you must, upon request, provide the GOC with copies of your payslips, bank statements or any other document related to your gross personal income. If your income is assessed at being greater than £12,000 or you do not supply evidence, you must immediately pay the difference between the low income and standard registration/retention fee (£100). We may request this information during the retention year for which you have claimed the lower fee, or at any point afterwards.

It is important that any information you provide on your eligibility for the lower fee is complete and accurate. The GOC Code of Conduct includes requirements around honesty, trustworthiness and professionalism. Making a false declaration or failing to inform us of changes in your financial circumstances may call into question your fitness to practise.

Can I apply for the low income fee during the retention year? i.e. if I pay the full registration or retention fee and my income for the year subsequently turns out to be less than £12,000, can I apply to have £100 of my full fee refunded?

No, we are not able to retrospectively apply the low income fee rate to applicants who subsequently earn below the £12,000 threshold. If you will earn less than £12,000 in 2011/12 and wish to pay the lower registration/retention fee, you will need to submit an application to receive the lower fee rate before completing your application for registration or retention.
