Type and length of interim order: The Fitness to Practise Committee (FTPC) determined an interim order of conditional registration for 18 months on 6 March 2018. The order was extended by the High Court in 2019 and 2020. On 31 January 2020, the FTPC changed the order to an interim order of suspension. The order was reviewed and maintained by the FTPC on 9 July 2020.

The order will be further reviewed within 6 months from today unless all matters are resolved within that time, or earlier should new evidence be made available, or if the registrant, at any time after three months from today's date, requests an early review.
